I was born on March 16th 1981 in Žiar nad Hronom city in Slovakia, Europe. Second half of primary school I was in a class focused on natural science (called math class). There I started to learn english and had first contact with computers. During primary school I was also visiting primary art school (visual art department), where I learned basics for drawing, painting, design and photography.

On high school I was learning about internet and with our project we did get to national level of competition. I was also graphic designer of high school newspaper and some of school posters, I wrote and tried to publish a book.

After graduation I switched to Mac as I wanted to focus on DTP. After about 9 months of getting experience I did get my first job as graphic and web designer.

I continued to learn new things with my own project of eComix, multimedia track for music album Biorytmy of band Tatabojs, localisation of leaflets and print advertisements of local veterinary and pet food company Pharmacopola, created first two applications aaw.mo and DiskLister and sold them as shareware, publishing two eBooks (PDF) and my own multimedia CD.

Since April 4th 2002 I am working as self-employed. First years I specialised to graphic design and DTP, later I focused on web design and development based on PHP + MySQL and cross-platform desktop apps. Since that I have my personal portfolio published on cw.sk which I try to keep current.

I was working as both independent freelancer and internal employee, member of teams for many companies. The most important experience I did get during those years were while working for companies Esprint, Kusak, Altimax, OMS Slovakia, Kremša and SCR. From graphic design, DTP and multimedia presentations to design and development of websites, e-business solutions, that helped to manage e-shops, SaaS services, administration of many company processes.

I regularly work in Linux and Mac OS environments, administration of required technologies on my computers I do myself, I am skilled CLI (Bash) user.

If I am not working, I try to improve myself - I have some personal projects (Climber's Routes, JaMLin) - I like to climb, hike (or move any other way), draw, paint, read books, watch movies, sometimes I even publish (in Slovak Zajtra.sk, Blog SME).

But most of all I like to be with my family, learn things from my son and help my wife. I like to discover concepts of creating win-win agreements and friendly communication.

I think most important is to find and keep balance, spend my time the right way and to discover and understand both myself and world around me. I have my life organised in priorities, where the most important project is my son. I consider behavior of heartless, greed and pride to be the worst.
